AGENCY NAME & INTRODUCTION

Our agency offers a full range of digital marketing services tailored specifically for the fitness industry. This includes social media management, content creation, branding, paid advertising, website development, and promo video/photo production for gyms and studios. We also provide strategy development and community-building support to help fitness businesses grow both online and offline.

NICHE

We chose to focus on the fitness niche because it's an industry built on community, motivation, and transformation, values that align perfectly with how we approach marketing.

Many small gyms and boutique studios lack access to high-quality digital support, and we saw a real opportunity to help them stand out. By specialising in fitness, we can offer more relevant strategies, deeper industry insight, and better results for our clients.

Kenzen Pilates Studio

Karada
Kenzen
PILATES STUDIO

- Mariana, the instructor.
- Small, cozy studio in Eixample.
- Only 3 reformer machines → very small groups.
- Not a basement studio
- Intimate space with no overwhelm.
- Perfect for girls who want a safe, quiet place to work out.

Target Group: “Fit Girl”

Competitor: Mou Pilates

Their strategy emphasizes a highly visual, aesthetic, approach that positions Pilates as a trendy, calm lifestyle activity focusing on beautiful studio interiors and accessible reformer classes.

- Instagram: 969 followers
- TikTok: No account, User-Generated content

Aesthetics: Clean, minimalist visual identity that encourages people to take photos.

The studio itself is the main "character" in their content.

Content: Studio interiors and beautiful flows, relying heavily on client User-Generated Content (UGC).

What opportunities can you detect?

Personality/Community: Their content is often more about the space than the people. Highlighting instructor personalities or client stories could build a deeper emotional connection.

Competitor: Vibra Fitness & Wellness

Their strategy emphasizes a high-energy, holistic "lifestyle" brand that combines intense fitness with wellness services (physiotherapy, beauty) and a vibrant social community.

- Instagram: 2.443 followers
- TikTok: No account, User-Generated content

Community Hub: They actively market their entire space and coffee area, selling the idea of "belonging" rather than just "exercising."

Wellness: They cross-promote services beyond Pilates, such as physiotherapy and facial massages

Target: targets women with the core message "By women for women", fostering an inclusive, female-centric training environment.

What opportunities can you detect?

Personality: Highlighting instructor personalities or client stories could build a deeper emotional connection.

Competitor: Pampa Studio

Their strategy emphasizes a warm and comprehensive wellness center offering a full range of services: Reformer/Tower Pilates, Massages, Nutrition, and Osteopathy.

- Instagram: 4.440 followers
- TikTok: 128 followers ; 1.487 likes

Content Focus: Promoting their diverse wellness services and a branded merchandise line (Caps, T-shirts, socks, etc.).

Community & Networking: Primary mission is to create a social and cultural community, serving as a hub for networking and cultural exchange.

What opportunities can you detect?

They rarely show technique or educational content. While Pampa lists services, Kenzen can use short videos to give concise, value-driven examples making the offering more specific and appealing.

CLIENT ANALYSIS

Current Situation

- instagram focused
- calm and minimal vibe
- low consistency

The Gaps

- only reliant on silent workouts
- lack of Mariana's story

Opportunities

- highlight the benefits of a small studio
- build a community

INSPO

“Pilates barcelona”

“Become that girl”

“Gym anxiety”

Trends

- Analysed TikTok trends: fit girl, pilates, Barcelona.
- Clear aesthetic “That Girl”-trend: clean, soft, POV-style content.
- “Become that girl” + “Gym anxiety” – connects with our target.
- Adapted to Kenzen’s calm, intimate identity.

Script

- Hook: “3 señales de que tienes gym anxiety” — simple, relatable.
- Tone: soft, friendly, girl-to-girl.
- Castellano to match Kenzen’s local audience.
- Soft CTA: “Si tú también necesitas un lugar así...” → not salesy
- Goal: connect with fit girls who feel anxious in large gyms.

VIDEO

B-roll-style video that follows a storytelling structure:

Hook: Present a relatable problem to capture attention. 3 señales de que tienes “gym anxiety” + testimony: Isabel shares her real experience to build trust.

Valuable information: Brief educational insights that keep the viewer engaged.

Solution: Introduce Kenzen Pilates Studio as the place that helps overcome this issue.

CTA: Include the studio’s address and contact details at the end.

- To support the narrative visually, we selected background videos and images mostly related to gym girls and situations connected to the topic Isabel discusses. This made the content more dynamic and attention-grabbing.
- For the segment where we explain more about the Pilates studio, we used real content from Kenzen’s Instagram, such as class clips, private session footage, and photos of Mariana, helping reinforce authenticity and trust.

Clip Selection & Editing Process

- Clip selection, Cutting & refining: I removed moments where Isabel hesitated or paused for too long to create a smoother, more dynamic flow.
- Story-driven assembly: The clips were arranged to support the hook → context → solution structure.
- Dynamic visuals: B-roll and studio footage were layered strategically to keep the viewer visually engaged.

Final adjustments:

- Color correction: I adjusted brightness, contrast, and saturation for a clean look.
- Smooth transitions & sounds: Match cuts, quick cuts, and cross dissolves at specific points.
- On-screen text: Clear typography & captions white box in the style of a "TikTok explainer"
- A "3 signs of..." message that quickly grabs attention
- Trending music/rhythm: I adapted the cuts to the beat for better retention.
- Balanced volume between voice and music
- Optimized high-quality export

We chose a relatable, emotional, and conversational tone to connect directly with the target audience—mainly young women who may feel intimidated in larger gyms

“Being gym shy is real 😭 I thought it was just me... until I found a small studio where I can train peacefully.”

RESULTS REPORT

1. Video Views (968)

Shows how many times the video was watched. This is a solid result for a growing account, especially since 87.8% of views came from the For You page, meaning TikTok pushed the content organically.

2. Average Watch Time (6.67s)

A crucial TikTok KPI. The higher the watch time, the more TikTok boosts your video. Here the result is low because most viewers dropped off at 0:02.

3. Full Video Watch Rate (2.1%)

Only a small percentage watched the video until the end. This shows that the video length and structure did not sustain viewer attention.

Audience Insights

95% non-followers → strong indicator that the video reached new people outside our audience

Age: 25–34 (44%) + 18–24 (36%) → ideal demographic for fitness-related content

82% women → confirms that the gym anxiety topic resonates strongly with a female audience

Top countries: Romania, Norway, Spain → this is not ideal, since our target audience is located specifically in Barcelona. Content might need to be more geo-specific

RESULTS REPORT

What would you improve next time?

Stronger hook in the first 1–2 seconds

- Make the first 1–2 seconds more dynamic

Faster camera movement or more dynamic visuals

- Use faster camera movements or transitions to sustain attention

Shorter video format

- Experiment with shorter format

Clearer and more readable on-screen text

- Increase the use of on-screen text, emojis, or captions to reinforce key messages

Targeting & Audience

- Consider geotargeting better: our top countries are Romania, Norway, Spain, but our brand is Barcelona-based
